CHANGING OF THE GUARD AT PROSPECTS INFLUENTIAL
Future of the company “in very good hands”, says outgoing President

Vancouver, Canada: Prospects Influential (PI) Inc. welcomes a new partner and president, following the acquisition of a majority share position by Vancouver entrepreneur Kelly Wagner.

“Prospects is the perfect 21st century business,” said Wagner. “It is virtual, portable, has global customers and global suppliers and is well established in an industry that is experiencing explosive growth.”

PI sources and supplies targeted databases for all marketing campaigns, including direct mail, telemarketing, and opt-in email to a global clientele.

“Within a decade, Prospects will be the leader in the provision of business information in North America,” predicts Wagner. “We have the plan, the people and the commitment, and it is going to happen.”

PI was founded in 1998 by Daryl Eastlick. He and partner Greg Rubin – who is staying on as Wagner’s partner and taking on the role of Senior Vice President – built the company into a well-respected list broker with an excellent international reputation.

“The groundwork has been laid by Daryl Eastlick and Greg Rubin,” Wagner said. “Thanks to them, and to the other talented, dedicated and professional people we have here at Prospects, we’re going to make our vision for this company a reality.”

“I didn’t just want to sell my company,” said Eastlick. “I wanted to hand it off to a leader whose vision and commitment guaranteed it a good future. Kelly Wagner more than fit that bill.”

Added Rubin, who has been providing marketing lists to clients for more than 12 years: “I am excited by the vision that Kelly Wagner has for the future of this company, and I look forward to working with her on it.”
